6.5.2 - The institution reviews its teaching learning process, structures & methodologies of operations and learning outcomes at periodic intervals through IQAC set up as per norms and recorded the incremental improvement in various activities :

The institution reviews its teaching-learning process, structures and methodologies of operations, and learning outcomes at regular intervals through an IQAC set up in accordance with standards, and records the incremental improvement in various activities. The IQAC, as the central body within the college, monitors and reviews the teaching-learning process on a regular basis. Various creative activities and improvements were implemented in response to feedback.

The improvements based on feedback implemented are:

A) IQAC periodically reviews the teaching-learning process, structures & methodologies of operations, and learning outcomes:

The standard methods of teaching, learning, and evaluation which are proven over the years are being followed.

Academic Calendar:

Based on the University Academic Calendar, the Institute schedules the academic calendar well in advance at the start of the year to allow for not only the regular teaching-learning process but also for various events such as seminars, guest lectures, workshops, FDP's, hands-on-series, and many more.

Preparation of lesson plan for each Semester:

Faculty members create lesson plans for all of the courses they teach throughout that semester. Adding guest lecturers, industry visits, and internships to the curriculum.

Daily lecture Record:

Everyday faculties prepare and submit details of the lecture along with the topic covered.

Evaluation of teachers by students:

The college has a feedback system in place for students to rate the teachers. Students' regular assessments of professors, input on instructional methodologies, course delivery, attitude, strengths and weaknesses, and topic issues give a thorough picture of the obstacles experienced by students. The feedback mechanism is also monitored by the principal and management, who take corrective action as necessary.

Student learning outcomes:

The institute routinely monitors the performance of the pupils. It has a method for collecting and analyzing data on student learning outcomes; the institute has embraced the following points in this context:

1. Consistent class tests and interactions
2. Midterm and continual evaluation, which includes internal examinations, assignments, group discussions, and seminar presentations.
3. Semester examination system for all courses.
4. Providing pupils with a question bank covering a variety of areas.
5. Making lecture notes available via an internet gateway
6. Prompt resolution of student issues.
7. Each semester, at least 75% attendance is required.
8. Extra lessons for struggling pupils to help them address their challenges.

Effective internal examination and evaluation systems:

The Institute has a strong internal examination and assessment mechanism in place.

Students' result analysis:

The college provides analysis of students' performance following the announcement of their semester results. If a student's performance in a topic is deemed to be inadequate, the required procedures are taken to determine the reasons, and the involved faculty members are counseled and inspired to strive towards improvement.

Student Mentorship Scheme introduced & implemented in the even semester of Academic session:

The Student Mentorship Scheme is an initiative of the institute designed to help students develop holistically in terms of knowledge enhancement and personality progress.

Process of Program:

The mentor-mentee program includes three key members: the mentor an experienced faculty member, students, and a senior student member. The mentor roles are categorized clearly into two functions:

- 1) The career-related function incorporating advice to enhance the mentee's professional performance and development and
- 2) The psychosocial function establishes the mentor as a role model and mental support system for the mentee.

Given the success of a mentoring programme, the institution administration has established standards that include a faculty-wise average of 40 students as mentees under the supervision of a single mentor. For optimal growth, students are allocated a single mentor to ensure clear communication between the student body and the mentor.

When the mentor-mentee ratio was developed and implemented, students were motivated and encouraged to seek assistance from their mentor. Students participated in a number of events during the school year. The course is semester-based, and student success is assessed in two ways. Prior to participation in the mentor-mentee course, performance in communication skills, collaboration, creative behavior, and personal involvement were assessed.

After successfully completing the programme in 6 months (semester end), performance on the same set of indicators is evaluated. Students who completed the programme demonstrated increased classroom involvement, improved attention, greater well-being, and decreased absenteeism. As a result, all teaching staff students are involved in effectively organizing different academic and cultural events through decentralization and participatory administration.

A regular parent-teacher meeting is held once a semester to allow for discussion, gathering parent feedback, and making improvements.

The academic calendar is followed by Bapuraoji Butle Arts, Narayanrao Bhat Commerce, and Bapusaheb Patil Science College Digras District Yavatmal, including the conduct of CIE. Before the start of each semester, the University issues an academic calendar for all programmes, which includes the start date, last working day of the semester, internship schedule, and dates for semester-end examinations.

Bapuraoji Butle Arts Narayanrao Bhat Commerce & Bapusaheb Patil Science College Digras District Yavatmal carefully adheres to the University's timetable and prepares all of its activities, including Continuous Internal Evaluation (CIE). The institute creates an institute-level calendar, and then each department creates its own calendar. The Institute's event calendar provides information such as the overall number of working days and holidays, CIE dates, and dates for the Institute's flagship programmes. Guest lectures, seminars, and industrial visits, as well as other co-curricular and extra-curricular activities, are all part of the department's schedule. Except for unexpected situations, academic activities, CIE, and other activities are carried out in accordance with the timetable of events.

Academic calendars assist faculty members in planning their course delivery, research, academic, and co-curricular activities. Department heads oversee and monitor the fulfillment of the syllabus in accordance with the lesson plan created by faculty members. Each CIE's syllabus coverage is determined in advance, and faculty members adhere to it.

Internal Assessment (IA) examinations, assignments, quizzes, and seminars are all part of a student's Continuous Internal Evaluation (CIE). According to the event schedule, there is a well-defined method for conducting CIE. The course instructors create IA question papers based on the updated Bloom's Taxonomy and the assessment scheme, which are evaluated by the stream coordinator and approved by the department Head. The examination committee prepares an internal assessment test timeline, which is distributed to stakeholders and followed. Course Instructors are responsible for administering post-IA examinations, evaluating response scripts, and calculating CO-PO/PSO achievement.

Laboratory courses, project work, seminars, and internships are all subject to continuous review and assessment. The key components of laboratory course evaluation are the conduct of laboratory experiments and viva, as well as the submission of records. The internal test is given at the conclusion of the semester, according to the laboratory rubrics.

The Principal examines the semester's progress and makes appropriate comments at academic committee meetings. In the event that the university revises the academic calendar, the institution makes the required revisions.
